Raps Press for More Attention

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said Thursday that the press doesn't give enough attention to the hard work governors do for their states, "but when we make a mistake, we get hell for it."

Faubus made the remark at the Governor's Conference, during questioning by newsmen.

Discrimination Elimination

GENEVA (AP) — The United States says it will sign the international convention on the elimination of all forms of racial discrimination.

Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, told the U.N. Economic and Social Council Wednesday he would sign the convention in a ceremony in New York later this month. The convention was approved by the U.N. General Assembly last December and has been signed by 20 nations.

They Expected Boy This Time

WINTHROP, Mass. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Swansburg Jr. of Winthrop, Mass., were sure that the baby they were expecting this week would be a boy.

They already had two sons. In fact, it had been 78 years since the last daughter was born to a Swansburg, and that one was the girl half of boy-girl twins. Mrs. Swansburg gave birth to twin girls on Wednesday.

President Takes Issues to Public

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four days after he became president, Lyndon B. Johnson declared: "I cannot bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans, and all America."

He has resorted to this technique again and again since then, making support for an administration program, bill or course of action a deeply personal matter.

And now, in mounting an offensive for his Viet Nam policy, Johnson is using his patented personal technique once more — in spades.

"There is no human being in all this world who wishes . . . peace to come to the world more than your president of the United States," he said last week in Omaha.

"And if you are too busy or not inclined to help, please count 10 before you hurt," he told a crowd assembled on the bank of the Missouri River.

At his news conference Tuesday at Johnson City, Johnson voiced high praise for the U.S. forces in Viet Nam and added this patriotic note:

"I am fearful that sometimes we do not give enough thought to those men as we sit here in the luxury of our front porch and lawn, that we don't recognize the men that are dying for us out in the rice paddies."

Not all of America's wars have been popular on the home front, but the call of patriotism largely succeeded in stifling meaningful opposition. The Viet Nam war is particularly unpopular.

In part, what Johnson is doing is seeking to squeeze out dissension from the stepup in the war's tempo by wrapping his policy in patriotism and in the institution of the presidency itself.

He does not ask support for himself as such but for the institution. This gives a nonpartisan gloss to the policy and seeks to reduce opposition to the level of petty bickering.

The "doves" and others who have doubts about the wisdom of the course the United States is following in Viet Nam see no easy solution.

Johnson is not saying there is one, but he insists there is only one course the United States can follow: Bring inexorable military pressure on North Viet Nam "until the day they decide to end this aggression and to make an honorable peace."

And he is saying it is his patriotic duty to steer on — and the patriotic duty of all Americans to follow.

While Marines are "wading through the rice paddies up to their belts," he said in Omaha, SMOKE CLOUD OVER HANOI—"It looked like one tremendous thunderstorm," was the way one pilot described the pillar of smoke shown above which rose from the bombed oil depots at Hanoi. North Viet Nam.

"the least they are entitled to is for you to be as brave as they are and to stand up and give them the support they need here at home."

"We're not going to tuck our tail and run out of South Viet Nam," the President said at another point.

Bravery. Duty. Loyalty to friends in trouble. Not running away from responsibility. These are at the heart of patriotism.

The question now is whether the President's expression of these virtues will unite the country more solidly behind him — and convince some of his critics to drop their brickbats.

U. S. and Korea in Agreement

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — After five years of intermittent negotiations, the United States and South Korea agreed today on a treaty governing the status of the 50,000 U.S. servicemen stationed in Korea.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Foreign Minister Lee Tong-Won will sign the treaty in Seoul Saturday. The last stumbling block was removed Wednesday when the United States agreed to give Korea primary jurisdiction over major criminal offenses committed by U.S. servicemen while off duty.

McClellan to Be Honored

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., will be the guest of honor at a Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting here Monday and that night is scheduled to attend an appreciation dinner for H. K. Thatcher.

Thatcher is secretary of the channel for the river. Delegates securing a nine-foot navigation and was instrumental in Ouachita River Valley Association from Washington and the U.S. Army Engineers at Pittsburgh, Pa., are expected to attend the dinner.

Belgium Queen Is Expecting

BRUSSELS (AP) — Queen Fabiola of Belgium is expecting a baby.

A communique issued by the grand marshal of the royal court said King Baudouin "is pleased to inform the country that a happy event can be expected at his household."

On the advice of her doctors, the queen is canceling all public engagements. Now 28, the childless queen had a miscarriage in 1963.

A court spokesman said the baby is expected this winter. King Baudouin and Fabiola, a pianist, were married Dec. 15, 1960.

U.S. Grant for Magnolia Housing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Housing and Urban Development announced Thursday the reservation of a $223,435 grant to help Russellville, Ark., finance construction of a community center.

The agency also announced approval of a $14,000 loan to help Magnolia, Ark., plan for 70 low-rent homes.

Swimming at Age 6 Months

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Shawn Leigh Davis is six months old, weighs 21 pounds — and is taking swimming lessons.

She's the daughter of Mrs. John Davis, 28, who is teaching a nursery school class to swim. Mrs. Davis dunks the infant and Shawn uses sort of a flutter kick that propels her about three feet toward another instructor waiting to catch her.

Wild Dream for Luci Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Never in a girl's wildest dreams could she hope to start off married life like this," says Luci Johnson, who has received a rain of presents from four bridal showers.

It took a White House truck to pick up the gifts from a kitchen shower given by bridesmaid Sharon Cham Chapman for the President's younger daughter, who will marry Patrick Nugent Aug. 6.

Still to come are a bridesmaid's luncheon, a bachelor dinner for Pat and a bridal dinner given by Pat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Nugent.

Bartenders, Ministers Cooperate

DUBUQUE, Iowa (AP)—Members of Bartenders Local 527 and the Dubuque Pastoral Marriage Counseling Service met together with the aim of getting the bartenders to refer troubled customers to ministers for professional help.

Said Gov. Harold Hughes, an Alcoholics Anonymous member who won his battle with the bottle: "I think it's a good, sound endeavor and I wish them every success."

Prof. William Hulme of Wartburg Seminary, codirector of the counseling service, told the bartenders that by referral to the counseling service, "You may be bringing help to these troubled people while there is still time."

"It boils down to people taking care of people," said Eugene Schueller, president of the Bartenders Union local.

"That's exactly right," said Dr. John Hege, a psychiatrist and superintendent of the maximum security hospital at the Iowa Men's Reformatory.

"Bartenders get first crack at the alcoholic," Dr. Hege added, "and there are some bartenders who certainly could spot these people for referral."

"After all, if they refer someone who doesn't need it no harm is done."

Russell L. Wilson, an ordained Methodist minister and also chairman of the board which supervises the state's correctional and mental institutions, said bartenders can "help these people be aware of the resources that are available in the given communities to help."

"I think ministers too often are too far removed from the troubled and distressed and desperate people that exist in every community."

"It is surprising," said Mrs. Loree Wilson, a divorced mother of two, "how the edge can be taken off of alcoholism simply by talking to another human being."

Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stevenson

There will be a family reunion on their 62 wedding anniversary at Hope Fair Park Tuesday. All friends are invited to July 12 honoring Mr. and Mrs. C. D. Stevenson of Texarkana.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

Should Grown Son Stay Out All Night?

Dear Helen: We have a 21-year-old son living at home. He doesn't think it is wrong to occasionally stay out all night. He says he does nothing wrong, just goes clubbing and enjoys good music in the company of nice, sociable girl. He claims as long as he doesn't do anything disgraceful or shameful he is old enough to come home when he pleases.

Am I wrong in absolutely forbidding this? He reads your column too and we'll all be awaiting your answer. — Mrs. R. K.

Dear Mrs. K.: As long as your son is living in your home, then he should conform to your rules; not because its "immoral" to stay out all night, but simply to make his parents "rest easy."

I could point out a young man can be just as "shameful" between 8 and 1:30 p.m. as he can from midnight to dawn. But if he wants to keep his own hours, he should also keep his own apartment.

And that might not be a bad idea. — H.

Hi, Helen: A not from the Carolina Mountains. I do very little writing but I would like to put in my five cents worth about the woman who got an "invitation" from the grocery clerk in the supermarket parking lot.

Good Gosh! Why make such a tizzy about something that should have been taken as compliment. After over ten years of marriage and five children, she should be very pleased that she can still attract a "proposition," even if he uses the excuse of a phony phonocall to do it.

Th woman who answered her letter and called the clerk a "sex maniac" is an even colder fish. Normal men make passes. Sex maniacs don't bother with preliminaries.

I haven't been down to the other pasture yet but it sure helps a married woman's ego to know she could if she wanted to. We all like to put a gleam in a good man's eye. — FIVE Kids and 40

Out of the Frying Pan. . . . Dear Helen: I remarried seven years ago because I was a lonely.

The man I got turned out to be a slave driver. We live on a farm, and I'm forced to work with all kinds of livestock, which scares me to death. If anything goes wrong or the stock get loose, I am cursed and screamed at.

I do all my own baking—even bread, and I am a good manager and housekeeper. My allowance is $10 a week for groceries and all spending money.

I try not to let my grown children (three) know how bad things are, as when they are around he acts kind and loving.

At summer I save wherever I can for the children's and his Christmas. He never gives me anything. They all come with fine gifts for him, not knowing that the little I have for them comes from me, not him. I have to use my small savings to round out our expenses, though he has plenty of money.

When I am sick, he won't take me to a doctor. He always says all women are crazy. I can't go anywhere or entertain women for coffee or visit them. Holidays? He never remembers even my birthday! I fix a nice meal, and before he finishes, he's demanding that I do something else for him.

We don't even have a car. The reason is because he says I'll want to drive and all women drivers are crazy. No church: that's for "lazy people."

I am not a neurotic, I've always enjoyed life, but sometimes I think if I could go to sleep and not wake up, it would solve everything. What? — Trying

Dear Trying: Why don't you admit you made a mistake and ask your child to help you jump out of the fire an back into the frying pan.

There are a lot worse fates than a widow's loneliness! —H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

Letters To Editor

FARM ATROCITY

Editor The Star: This is not the children's story of the "Three Little Pigs" who went out into the world to build their houses of wood and brick and straw, but a true story of two real live pigs in a big substantial barn.

Barn, pigs, and stable belonged to Dewitt Little living 12 miles north of Hope. Mr. and Mrs. Little and the five little Littles attended church Sunday and on their return home missed the two little pigs.

A search revealed the swine dead, lying some 60 yards from the barn. Both pigs had broken legs and tusk marks along their bloodless bodies.

The pigs weighed around 70 pounds each and the varmit that killed them had to carry them over a 4-foot board fence to get them out of the stable, then over a 4-foot barbed-wire fence to get them away from the barn.

dialing your own Long Distance calls is fun...

makes you feel this close to a friend or loved one

Direct Distance Dialing is the easy, personal way to keep in touch... to span the miles, in seconds, and to enjoy the feeling of nearness to friends and loved ones.

It's economical, too, as calls go through at low station-to-station rates... just a few quick spins of the dial and someone far away is suddenly very close.

You'll find information on how to dial your own long distance calls in the front pages of your telephone directory.

Mantle Hits Homer for Yankee Win

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mickey Mantle, who has trouble adjusting to Yankee Stadium after returning from a road trip, adjusted just in time to save the Yankees from further embarrassment.

"I never like coming back here," Mantle said after New York defeated Boston 5-2 Thursday night. "It's tough adjusting to this park. You always try to pull the ball."

Try or not to pull the ball, that's exactly what Mantle did with two out in the ninth inning, and it sailed into the right-field seats for a three-run homer.

The blast, only Mantle's second hit in 18 at bats since returning to New York July 4 after a road trip in which he hit eight homers in six games, kept the last-place Red Sox from sweeping the four-game series.

This year, for the first time since 1953 Mantle was not named to the American League All-Star team, but he has no regrets.

"I can use the rest," he said. "Those other guys deserve it more. I just had that one hot week."

In the only other AL action, the Chicago White Sox defeated Washington 8-5 and Detroit edged Minnesota 4-3.

San Francisco beat Cincinnati 7-5, the Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh 4-3, the New York Mets downed Philadelphia 9-6 and Los Angeles nipped Atlanta 3-2 in the only National League games.

PERSONABLE—On the court, Billie Jean Moffitt King is one of the most vibrant players in the game. She talks to herself, the judges, the crowd. And it makes her a favorite with tennis fans wherever she plays.

When Alvin (Doggie) Julian retires as Dartmouth's basketball coach after next season, Dave Gavitt will coach the Big Green. Gavitt, a native of Westerly, R.I., will coach the freshman team next fall.

Between You'n' Me

BY MURRAY OLDERMAN

Mission Accomplished?

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Baltimore Colts, is also the largest stockholder in Seven Arts. He went to England, ostensibly to check on some movies in production by that company. One of them happens to feature fullback Jim Brown of the Cleveland Browns. So owner Art Modell of the Browns asked Carroll to drop in on his fullback to check on his football intentions. Rosenbloom did; Brown turned on the charm. Carroll reported back to Modell. "Why, he's a very nice fellow."

"Takes one to know one," sputtered Modell, or words to that effect. And still doesn't know whether he'll start the season with his great running back.

Dennis McLain, who leads the American League in pitching victories, thinks the traditional system of rating pitching effectiveness is all wet. "I don't feel an earned run average is a true picture of a pitcher," says the Detroit ace. "Some of your top relievers have high ERA's because they'll go eight or nine games in a row doing a great job and give up five or six runs in one game, and up goes the earned run mark. This is the way I've been. I got hit twice real hard this year, though I've pitched some good games, and my ERA is over 3.00."

Leon Wagner of the Cleveland Indians now comes equipped for all occasions with contact lenses: brown for sunny days, pink for cloudy days, and clear (Daddy Wags calls them "white") for in-between weather.

The mighty-have-fallen department: John Pennel, former winner of the Sullivan Award, was approached by an AAU official during the pole vaulting competition. "Here, Bob," said the brass man, "are a bunch of AAU pins. You can use them to exchange with the Russians when they come over." "I'm not Bob," said Pennel, pointing to Bob Seagren, his roommate and successor as the world's highest vaulter. "He's over there."

"Then where did John go?" asked the AAU official. Pennel shrugged. "See what happens," he mused later, "when you lose your world record?"

Dyrol Burleson, the Oregonian who seems destined to chase after Jim Ryun from here on out in the mile run, explains why he returned to track: "The mystique of the gold medal (in the '68 Olympics) . . . and to get away from the books and the office."

The United States can't be sure they'll have Randy Matson, the greatest shotputter in history, in Mexico City in 1968. The big Texas Aggie admits he has been soundly out by several pro football teams. They pay more to throw ball carriers than 16-pound shots.

Mike Pyle, getting ready to go to camp with the rookies of the Chicago Bears, reveals that in his five years at Halas Tech no rookie (other than Mike his first year) has ever snapped the ball to the quarterback . . . and he's the only center on tap again this year.

Fred Whitfield, the first baseman of the Cleveland Indians, is having a sub-par slugging year but his reputation as a Yankee-killer is as high as ever. "It helps my confidence to play in the Stadium," says the Georgian. "Because of that short porch in right field, I hit pretty good against the Yankees, so I'm relaxed . . . and I think my reputation as a Yankee-killer helps me."

Between you'n' me, owner Wayne Valley of the Oakland Raiders has the definitive word on pro football peace: "No longer do you have 24 idiots (i.e. owners) creating an imbalance in young adults' minds relating to money."

Nicklaus Still Leading in British Open

By RONALD THOMPSON
MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Phil Rodgers, the ex-Marine from La Jolla, Calif., followed a horrible 40 with an astonishing five-under-par 30 today and took a two-stroke lead over slumping Jack Nicklaus in the third round of the British Open Golf Championship.

By RONALD THOMPSON
MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Jack Nicklaus denies he's a slow golfer — it's just that he doesn't like officials putting a stopwatch on him.

"You can't play golf with a policeman hanging over you," said the blond master from Columbus, Ohio.

Leading the field by one stroke on 137 at the halfway stage of the British Open Golf Championship starting the third round today, Nicklaus paused — but not on the course — to explain how he feels about slow play.

"At the U.S. Open in San Francisco last month they tried to speed up play by badgering the golfers and even putting the clock on them," Nicklaus said.

"Some rounds were taking 5½ hours and obviously the U.S.G.A. was right to speed up play. But the methods were wrong."

Big Jack had no complaints on this score against the Royal and Ancient Golf Club which runs the British Open. His rounds thus far at Muirfield have taken about 3½ hours, and that has been about average.

"That seems just about right to me," Nicklaus said.

Gerald Micklem, chairman of the British championship committee, commented: "There has been absolutely no need to urge the players on. I think Americans tend to play faster over here than they do at home."

Two men who disagreed slightly about the speediness of play in sixth championship were Arnold Palmer and South Africa's Gary Player.

Drysdale in Good Effort, Dodgers Win

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Good hit, no throw.

That's the story of Don Drysdale's latest effort, but the hitting overcame the throwing and enable Drysdale and the Los Angeles Dodgers to overcome Atlanta 3-2 Thursday night.

Drysdale, who has had numerous pitching problems this season, added some more to his list in the first 4½ innings against the Braves, throwing wild twice and hitting a batter once. In the last four innings, though, the hitting took over as he rapped singles three times.

The big right-hander's difficulties started in the third inning with two Braves on base and two out. Drysdale tried to pick Frank Bolling off second, but the throw went wide and the Braves had two runners in scoring position.

Drysdale then hit Mack Jones with a pitch, loading the bases, before Hank Aaron cracked a two-run single.

The Dodgers' onetime ace uncorked another wild pickoff throw with a man on and two out in the fifth, but this time he pitched out of it.

Drysdale the hitter then took over. He led off the bottom of the fifth with a single and reached second, then led off the seventh with a single and reached third. But Los Angeles didn't get a run either time.

He persisted, though, and one of his hits finally produced a run. With the game tied 2-2, Wes Parker at third and two out in the eighth inning, Drysdale grounded to short and beat it out for a run-scoring single.

In other National League games Thursday, San Francisco outsluged Cincinnati 7-5, Chicago edged Pittsburgh 5-4 and New York topped Philadelphia 3-6.

In the American League, Detroit nipped Minnesota 4-3, New York downed Boston 5-2 and Chicago defeated Washington 8-5.

Drysdale, winning his sixth game against 11 losses, left for a pinch runner after his third hit. He allowed five hits in eight innings, and Phil Regan stopped Atlanta in the ninth. Maury Willis had a run-producing single for the Dodgers while Jim LeFebvre contributed a sacrifice fly.

Football Assists In Rehabilitation

MELBOURNE (AP) — Each week prisoners from the Boolarra prison farm, 100 miles from Melbourne, go out to play football for the local club.

Twelve prisoners are good enough to get into the Boolarra side, although they are under guard when playing. They arrive at the field in a prison van, and after the match are returned to prison.

Football is part of the rehabilitation program for the selected prisoners who get recreation leave.

Secretary of the Boolarra team, John Pascoe, says: "There is no disharmony between the local players and the prison players. They are all good mates. They never abuse the privilege and there has never been any trouble."

President of the club, Ian Richardson, says some of the prisoners had come back to play with the club after their release.

He said the club asked the farm to let the prisoners play with it.

"This is our way to help rehabilitate these chaps," he says. "Once or twice a year we all go to the farm and have a night with them."

Among the prisoners is a former Victorian State representative Australian Rules player.

SON IS A WINNER

FORT MORGAN, Colo. (AP) — Eastern racing results mean a lot to Mrs. Millie Baltazar of Fort Morgan. Her son, Charles, 18, is a jockey and has had an especially successful season on Maryland tracks. Two younger sisters attend school in this eastern Colorado farm community.

Leaves Sheriff as Volunteer

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP) — Sheriff Von Rin has left the Henry County sheriff's department for a tour of duty as a volunteer in the Air Force. He is 3½-year-old German shepherd dog owned by Sheriff Warren Davis.

New Activities at Fair Park During Summer

All children look forward to relaxing in their rest periods by doing art work, a new activity at Fair Park this summer. This is a new activity of the City Parks and Recreation Committee.

This is the way to beat the heat and keep cool at Fair Park during the hot summer days.

Tennis instruction provided for children at Fair Park through the summer playground program.

Children participating in the playground program take a cold drink break during the day's activities.

SOLUNAR TABLES

By John Aiden Knight

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Aiden Knight's SOLUNAR TABLES. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times. If you want to find the best sport on each day has to offer.

The Major Periods are shown in boldface type. These begin at the times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Periods, shown in regular type are of somewhat shorter duration.

file a certified or cashier's check in the amount of $1400 on a bank that is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, payable to the District, to be kept as liquidated damages if the bidder is awarded the sale of the bonds and fails to complete the purchase. Checks of unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned and the District will not pay interest on good faith checks. The District reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

For further information address the undersigned, or Stephens, Inc., Little Rock, Arkansas.

GIVEN this 28 day of June, 1966.

Board of Directors of Hope school District No. 1-A of Hempstead County, Arkansas
By James Pilkinton, President.

July 1, 8, 15, 1966.

The assessed valuation of all taxable property within the school district for the year 1965, the last assessment of record, is $9,009,883.

The bonds will be sold upon auction bids at 2 o'clock p.m. on the 25 day of July 1966 in the office of the Superintendent of Schools, Hope, Arkansas. Each bidder will be required to pay for the payment of the bonds, the District will pledge its full faith, credit and resources and all of its revenues from whatever source derived that may now or hereafter legally be pledged, except the millage annually voted for current operation and maintenance and the payment in indebtedness evidenced by other bonds issues, but including surplus from continuing tax levies heretofore voted and pledged to secure any other bond issue, including, but not limited to, the seven (7) mills pledged to an issue of school bonds of the District dated September 1, 1950; the six (6) mills pledged to an issue of school bonds of the District dated December 1, 1947; and, beginning with the year 1971, the eight (8) mills pledged to an issue of school bonds of the District dated February 1, 1968, and further including that part of the State apportionment going to the District's Operating Fund. The purchaser may name the Trustee and Paying Agent. All expenses of the issue, including the printing and trusteeing of the bonds and the fee of Smith, Williams, Friday & Bowen, Bond Counsel, Little Rock, Arkansas, upon whose approving opinion the bonds will be issued, will be paid by Stephens, Inc., Little Rock, Arkansas, the fiscal agent.

Supplemental coupons and dual coupons will not be permitted, but the bonds may be converted to an issue bearing a lower rate or rates of interest, with any conversion to be in accordance with the Universal Bond Values Tables, upon such terms that the District receive no less and pay no more than it would receive and, pay if the bonds were not converted.

The conversion shall be subject to the approval of the Board of Directors of the District and of the Commissioner of Education of the State of Arkansas.

The bonds will be callable for payment prior to maturity in inverse numerical order at par and accrued interest as follows: from surplus proceeds of building fund taxes and from any funds available for the call of all or any part of the bonds of this issue in connection with the call or refunding of a all or any part of the bonds of the District (hereafter identified) on any interest paying date; from funds from any source on any interest paying date on and after June 1, 1971. In the event the District refunds or calls any bonds of the December 1, 1947 issue, the September 1, 1950 issue or the February 1, 1966 issue (called "prior issues") it shall call that proportionate amount of the bonds of this issue than outstanding that the total principal amount of the bonds of prior issues being called or refunded bears to the total principal amount of the bonds of prior issues outstanding immediately prior to such call or refunding; provided, however, that if the refunding of any of the prior issues leaves the continuing annual tax pledged to said issue unchanged and pledged to the refunding of said issue but there necessary to call any bonds of this issue by reason of the refunding of said issue but thereafter references in this paragraph to prior issues shall be construed to include the refunding issue in lieu of the refunded issue.

No bid of less than par and accrued interest will be entertained, and the award, if made, will be to the bidder whose bid results in the lowest net interest cost to the District (determined by computing the aggregate interest cost at the rate bid and deducting therefrom any premium bid).

The assessed valuation of all taxable property within the school district for the year 1965, the last assessment of record, is $9,009,883.

GOP Gov. John H. Reed of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors' Association, said he would hate to think that the conference was avoiding taking a stand on civil rights. He endorsed the Johnson administration's bill as sound legislation.

Governors Discuss Race, War Issues

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The nation's governors came to grips today with the question of resolving machinery to deal with the explosive issues of the Viet Nam war and civil rights.

In the first formal session of their 58th annual conference, the governors take up proposed amendments which would revise the resolutions-making process they junked in 1963 in a bitter fight over a Republican attempt to expose Democratic divisions over racial equality proposals.

Now the politically disturbing Viet Nam conflict hangs like a cloud over a conference where the everyday issues of federal-state relations, highway safety and mental health have been all but blotted out in preliminary discussions.

There is no doubt that if the Democrats push for it, they can get an endorsement from the conference for President Johnson's Viet Nam policies. They got one in last year's meeting with only two dissents — those of Republican Govs. George Romney of Michigan and Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon.

But a check by The Associated Press of a score of governors uncovered doubt and reservations, even among the President's supporters, about the latest bombings in North Viet Nam. Gov. Phillip H. Hoff, Vermont Democrat, for example, said that while he generally supports the President, "I have grave reservations on the recent bombings."

Gov. Daniel J. Evans, Washington Republican, said that the President may be on the right track in stepping up the bombings, "but it seems to me that over the past year and a half we have attempted something similar in nature but it never seems to end the war."

Hatfield continued his pace as one of the harsher critics of Johnson's policies.

Romney, a potential contender for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, announced he would not support any "blank check" endorsement of Johnson's course. He said Viet Nam ought not to be an issue in the conference, since the governors had no opportunity to influence the policies involved.

Southern governors served notice there will be a fight over any proposal for a conference endorsement of the administration's civil rights bill pending in Congress, particularly the open-housing section.

Gov. Paul B. Johnson of Mississippi predicted in an interview a "pretty good scrap" against it.

"I'm opposed to the bill," he said. "I don't see that a great deal would be gained by it. The legislation puts a great deal of emphasis on intolerance and laziness."

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama said that "property ownership," as affected by the bill's ban against racial discrimination in the sale or rental of housing, will be an issue in the 1968 presidential campaign in which he may run on a third party ticket.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey said he didn't come to the conference to participate in a brawl over civil rights. The New Jersey governor said controversies over this issue have nearly wrecked past conferences.

He said each governor has to deal with the issue individually in his state and there is nothing to be gained by adopting a resolution. He added that his state's legislature had passed an open-housing bill "and I haven't had 10 letters against it."

But Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, chairman of the Republican Governors' Association, said he would hate to think that the conference was avoiding taking a stand on civil rights. He endorsed the Johnson administration's bill as sound legislation.

GOP Gov. John H. Reed of Maine said that racial relations are of great concern to all of the governors.

Now that Batman and Robin have come out four-square in favor of safety belts in motor cars we can afford to recommend their use in bridge. In bridge, of course, it is safety plays, not belts.

South's jump to four spades is somewhat of a gamble but every bridge player has taken worse chances in bidding.

He wins the heart opening and if he is a careless player he smiles happily and leads one of his high spades. West shows out and South can wriggle, twist, squirm, but he will have to lose three trump tricks provided East takes that first spade and does not lead a trump back.

South will surely blame bad luck for his downfall but it won't be bad luck. It will be lack of foresight.

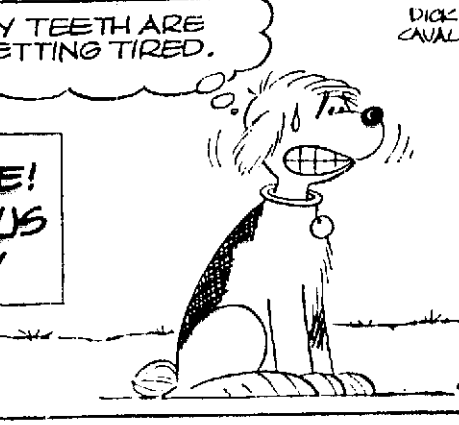

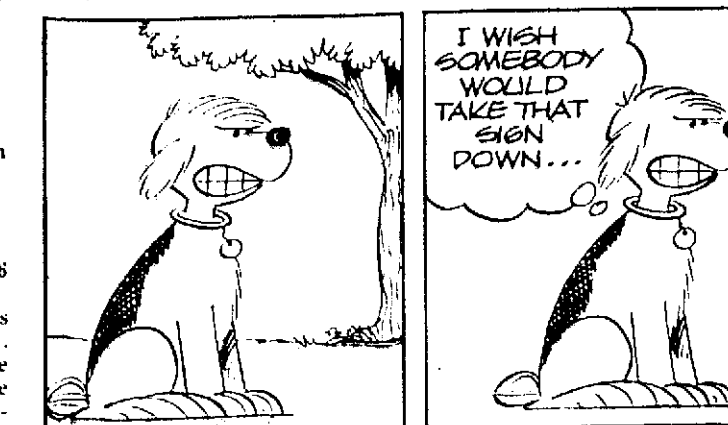

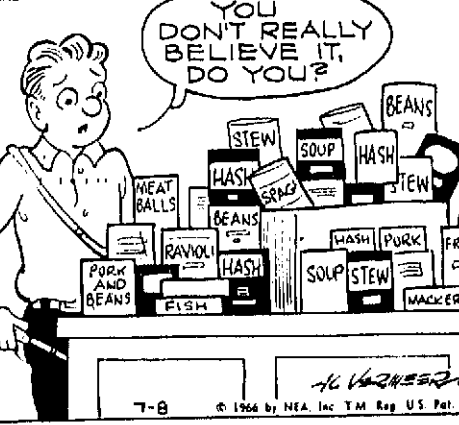

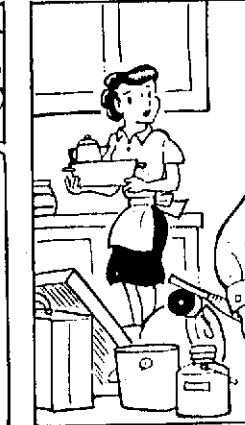

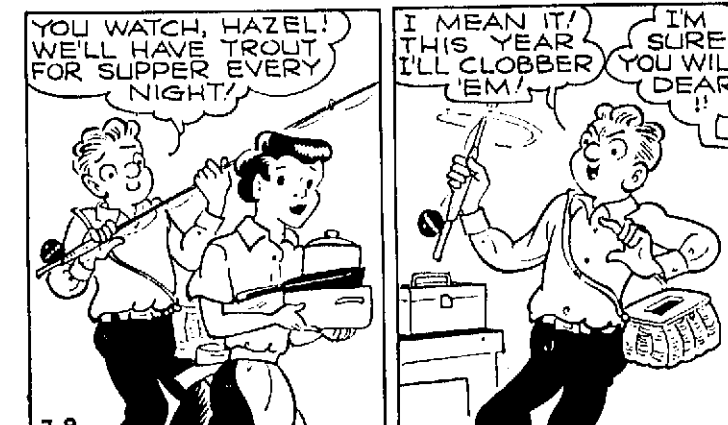

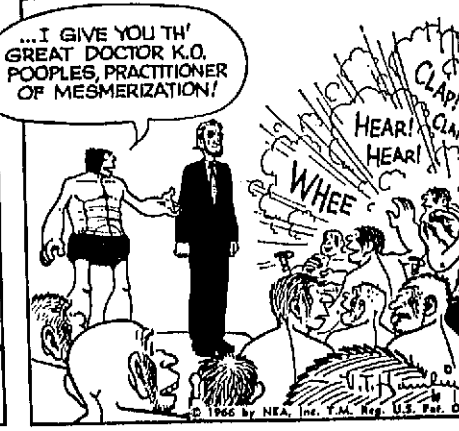

If South stops to plan his whole play he will see that there is a safety play at his disposal that will protect him against all four trumps in the East hand. South must lose a diamond sometime or other. The time to lose it is at trick two. South should lead a low diamond. West can rise with his king and do anything he wants to. Eventually South gets to dummy with a second diamond and leads a trump.

The best play East can make is to duck. South will win the trick and get to dummy a second time by ruffing his ace of diamonds. Then he will lead dummy's last trump and East will be held to two trump tricks.

West may criticize East's double but a really good player would have adopted this line of play even without the double.

A—Bid three spades. This can't be read as a slam try. You want your partner to be declarer at no-trump in case he has something like queen-small in spades.

County Judge Orie Byers and County Clerk Mrs. Dee Turnage signed the necessary papers and the bonds today that will complete the Bond Issue voted recently for Standard Generator Company. Money is now available to the County for the completion of the project. The contractor for the building stated today that he expects to start the steel work on the building within the next 10 days and expects to have the walls and roof on the building soon after August 1st. Upon completion of the building Standard Generator Company will move their plant operation from the Proving Ground area into the new building, which will provide more than twice the amount of floor space that they now have available. The Company expects to add additional employees once it gets moved and in operation at the new location. The alligator spends its winter buried in the mud of its swampy home.

have announced for Lieutenant Governor on the Democratic ticket. Two of them are preachers one is an insurance salesman one is a lawyer, politician; and one is a real estate developer and promoter, and don't know exactly what the others in the race do for a living. They are not all campaigning as I am doing but nevertheless there will be eight names on the Democratic ballot for Lieutenant Governor on July 26. It reminds me of the story of a little terrier dog that ran the five o'clock train each evening as the train passed the farmer's house. Just as sure as the train ran the dog would run it until the train would leave him behind in a cloud of dust. One evening a visitor was at the farmer's house and watched the dog run the train and the visitor remarked:

"You say that the little dog runs the train every evening? I wonder why he does that? The farmer meditated for a moment and then replied:

"Huh that is not what bothers me! I wonder what he would do if he caught it."

So it is about the campaign. Thinking people over Arkansas are wondering what some of these announced candidates for Lieutenant Governor would do with the office if by political accident they "caught it". They would probably be the most surprised person in Arkansas.

The principal duty of the Lieutenant Governor under ordinary circumstances is to preside over the State Senate when the Legislature is in session and to serve as Governor if and when the Chief Executive leaves the state for any reason. If the Governor should die then and in that of law. So, the man who is elected becomes Governor by operation of law. So, the man who is elected Lieutenant Governor should have, if possible, the same qualifications as the Governor himself for the Lieutenant Governor is only one heart-beat away from being Governor at any moment of the day or night. In addition, he man who serves as Lieutenant Governor should know something about parliamentary law and parliamentary procedure for he must guide the State Senate through its deliberations and rule promptly and fairly on all points of order.

When I was member of the Arkansas State Senate it was my privilege to preside over the body several times in the temporary absence and at the request, of the then Lieutenant Governor, the late Bob Bailey of Russellville. My legal training and judicial experience would enable me to better serve Arkansas as Lieutenant Governor than could some of my opponents regardless of how sincere they may be. I am the only man running for Lieutenant Governor — on either ticket — that has had both legislative and judicial experience in state government.

As presiding officer of the Senate the Lieutenant Governor must know something about legislative procedure and parliamentary law. Thinking people realize I believe, that my previous experience as a State Senator, as a lawyer and judge, and my background and training make me the best qualified candidate for Lieutenant Governor on either the Democratic or the Republican ticket.

One of the candidates said the other day that the Lieutenant Governor didn't need any qualifications. I disagree. A lot has also been said wanting to make the Lieutenant Governor of Arkansas a "working Lieutenant Governor". The definition given of work however, as those people use it, could best be defined as "play". Apparently some people would like to be elected Lieutenant Governor so they can attend all the parties and conventions and have a good time at state expense. I submit that we don't need a "playboy" or a "greeter" as Lieutenant Governor of Arkansas. The state needs a solid, mature, experienced man who could preside over the Senate efficiently and with dignity, represent the state when asked by the Governor to do so and serve as Governor if and when the occasion should arise.

I have always worked in the truest sense of the word in any position I have ever held, either public or private. As Lieutenant Governor I intend to work not play.

There have been many improvements in the Legislature since I served in the Senate. The Legislative Council together with the present improved committee system, enables the legislative branch of government to do its work more efficiently and to check on the other two branches as the constitution anticipates. The average legislator today is better educated, better informed, and better equipped to represent his people and the state. As Lieutenant Governor I will work with the Legislative Council when asked to do so. I will also work with the individual senator or representative and will keep fully informed on the activities of both the legislative and administrative branches of the government.

I can, and will, work closely with whomever is elected Governor but I will not seek to usurp the Governor's authority as some other candidates for Lieutenant Governor have implied they will attempt to do.

There is so much constructive that a qualified Lieutenant Governor could do for the state in addition to his routine, constitutional duties. For example, the laws and administrative procedures in regard to hospital, health, and accident insurance need careful study and revision. What some of the "fly by night" health and accident insurance improvements which should be made in Arkansas. Some way should be found to enable the cities, counties and state governments of Arkansas to pay their employees decent salaries. I have reference especially to the law enforcement officers, and firemen, who daily risk their lives to protect the safety of our persons and guard our property. Their salaries are disgracefully low.

We in Arkansas, particularly in this area, are blessed with abundant water for industrial purposes. According to reports, the Texas Water Development Board has recently released a plan to meet that state's water needs for the next 50 years. Texas' goal is to bring water from the rivers and lakes in other states. Texas considers the importation of out-of-state water feasible and practical from a financial standpoint according to studies made there. Apparently Texas is having trouble getting water already allocated to it from other states through interstate compacts such as the ones on the Rio Grande and Pecos Rivers. Those upstream, users especially in times of shortage, simply refuse to release as much water as those contracts call for. Now Texas wants Arkansas to enter into an interstate pact or pacts, I am against any export of Arkansas water to Texas or to any other state until Arkansas' need for the next 50 years are fully and completely met. For those of you not familiar with this matter, let me say that the Texas Water Board started hearings at Longview on June 20 on water needs for that state, and will conclude the series of hearings on August 26 at Lubbock. If I am elected Lieutenant Governor I will work with the Legislature and other officials to be sure that Texas keep its mits off of Arkansas industrial water; and that no other state raids our water supply.

Some of my opponents say they cannot understand why I want to be Lieutenant Governor. It is true that I have a good law practice. It is true also that I have already had many honors. However, as Teddy Roosevelt once remarked:

"The test of a man's worth to his country is the service he renders it."

It would have been more comfortable, and perhaps more profitable for me personally, to have stayed home this summer and simply practiced law. But no man worth his salt can accept all the good things of our democratic society, and not be willing to give of himself in return.

I believe that I can render a service to Arkansas as its next Lieutenant Governor. That is the real reason I seek the office. The pay is small — the honor is limited, but the opportunity to serve is great especially right at this particular time.

I would like for you — my friends and neighbors, and especially my children, to remember me for what I tried to do for Arkansas — rather than for any wealth or comfort I might grasp for myself alone.

With your continued good will and help I cannot fail. May God bless every one of you. Good night.

Philosophical Attitude Helps

Many Fibrositis Sufferers

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have fibrositis and have been told that an emotional factor is part of the cause. Treatments have not helped me. Is this a form of arthritis?

A—Fibrositis is classed as one of the rheumatic diseases but unlike arthritis it involves the muscles or tendons rather than the joints. It is characterized by aching and stiffness without any redness or swelling in the affected area. The pains are usually worse on getting up in the morning and abate as the day goes on. Changes in the weather and emotional stress often trigger or aggravate an attack.

Local heat relieves some victims and others prefer a tranquilizer or a cocktail. Aspirin and cortisone are not as helpful for this condition as they are for arthritis. Those who have made a study of fibrositis and the closely related myositis believe that the best treatment is to adopt a more philosophical attitude toward life and get involved in helping others.

Q—Would high blood pressure or constipation cause me to be dizzy?

A—Constipation would not cause dizziness but a violent diarrhea following a laxative might. Dizziness is sometimes associated with high blood pressure but is more often caused by a sudden drop in blood pressure. There are so many unrelated causes of dizziness that anyone who has such attacks should have a thorough checkup so that appropriate treatment can be given.

Q—What is meant by self-limited idiopathic vertigo? How long does it last?

A—Vertigo is true dizziness as distinguished from light-headedness. It makes you feel that the world is making several revolutions a minute instead of the customary one per day. Idiopathic means "of unknown cause" and self-limited means it will clear up without treatment but, if the cause has not been determined, who can tell when it will clear up?

Q—I have a pain in my chest. It is worse when I get tired. I don't smoke. What could cause the pain and what treatment is best?

A—Chest pain may have many causes since it may originate in the skin, nerves, muscles, ribs, heart, large blood vessels, lungs, the pleura which covers the lungs and even the liver, gall bladder or upper loops of the intestines. When the cause is not obvious a thorough examination to discover it is usually necessary. Only then can the proper treatment be prescribed.

Q—Is monosodium glutamate seasoning useful to dilate the arteries? Does it have any side effects?

A—This salt is used as a flavor enhancer, especially on meats. It can safely be taken in large amounts except by persons who must restrict their intake of sodium. It will not dilate the arteries.

Re: Public Apathy

ARKANSAS gubernatorial candidates have expressed puzzlement and concern about the public apathy prevalent in the current election campaign. They are particularly disheartened by the fact that voters are staying away from political speaking events in record numbers.

It is apparent that times have changed radically, not only in election politics, but in many other ways.

A local man was overheard the other day when he commented: "These days, nearly everybody has a television set, a car or two, maybe a motorboat, and various other paraphernalia to set them in their leisure hours. Very few of them are going to spend their free time listening to a candidate."

Whatever the reason, the public is becoming more and more apathetic toward election politics and government in general. To help support that observation, there is a public relations firm in Los Angeles that runs advertisements proclaiming, "You Can Be Elected State Senator."

Hal Evry, the firm's super-salesman for political candidates, claims his surefire election formula has worked 35 out of 39 times. In a nutshell, the formula is: Keep the candidate hidden. Keep his mouth shut. Run a big advertising campaign with a catchy slogan.

He points to a fellow by the name of Milligan who got elected to a local board without meeting a voter, making a speech or taking a stand on any issue. He simply advertised, "Three Cheers For Pat Milligan."

Evry confides that he can do wondrous things because of the voters' ignorance. They don't know the candidates or the issues, he says, and they don't care. So one needs only to attract their attention with gimmicks — and keep the candidate from making an ass of himself in public.

Ability and quality apparently do not fit into the LA formula. It's the packaging and marketing factors that count, not the product. And this comes at a time when citizens more than ever should give more thought to what they are purchasing on election day.

Evry predicts that eventually political promotion firms similar to his will spread all over the country and into every level of campaign politics.

Frightening, isn't it?

U.S., Reds Silent
on Talk Proposal

By LAWRENCE MALKIN
LONDON (AP) — The U. S. and Communist governments were silent today on Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi's proposal for an immediate Geneva conference and the end of American bombing of North Viet Nam.

Mrs. Gandhi proposed Thursday that convening of the conference be followed by a truce and that a settlement include the withdrawal of all foreign forces from Viet Nam and guarantees of neutral independence for Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia.

There "can be no military solution in Viet Nam" and there is no alternative to a peaceful settlement, she said in a broadcast before leaving for talks with leaders of the United Arab Republic, Yugoslavia and the Soviet Union. She arrived in Cairo today to meet with President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

Most foreign governments, including those of the United States and North Viet Nam, were informed of Mrs. Gandhi's proposal in advance. She also sent a personal letter to President Ho Chi Minh of North Viet Nam.

The crux of her proposal was another Geneva conference of the type held in 1954 to negotiate an end to the French Indochina War. The agreements reached at that conference are theoretically still in force and Britain and the Soviet Union remain the conference cochairmen.

Mrs. Gandhi said the cochairmen, instead of debating how the warring nations could be brought to the negotiating table, should immediately convene another meeting at Geneva.

"I offer these proposals as no more than an idea," Mrs. Gandhi said. "India is committed to a peaceful solution and not to any particular solution. We would be willing to support any alternative proposal that offers hope of success."

India is the chairman of the International Control Commission set up to oversee application of the provisions of the 1954 conference. Its other members are Canada and Poland.

Missing Cuban
Reported Safe

POSADAS, Argentina (AP) — Missing Cuban leader Ernesto (Che) Guevara was reported seen last month at Salavie, in Misiones Province, northern Argentina, a police official said today.

Capt. Mario Oscar Davico, assistant provincial police chief, told newsmen he has "evidence" that Guevara apparently was in Misiones in June. He spent some days in the area meeting with local Communist leaders and then disappeared again, Davico said without giving any details.

Misiones Province is at Argentina's northern tip, on the border with Brazil and Paraguay. Previous reports placing Guevara in various Latin-American countries have not been confirmed.

Some 600
Hear Local Candidate

An estimated 500 to 600 persons turned out last night for James Pilkinton night, honoring the Hope candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Mr. Pilkinton was introduced by Albert Graves, local attorney and Judge John L. Wilson was master of ceremonies.

Many County, state and district candidates spoke in behalf of their candidacy. Here's what Mr. Pilkinton told his hometown backers:

Mr. Graves, Judge Wilson, Mr. Frazier, Distinguished Guests, and Friends of Southwest Arkansas.

These words cannot express my gratitude to those of you who have planned this occasion. I am grateful also to each member of this splendid crowd for your presence here tonight.

Albert — my friend — I referred to you a moment ago as a "Mr. Graves," that was simply to identify you to the radio audience. I deeply appreciate your kind introduction. We have been friendly rivals in the courtroom many times but we have also joined hands in any civic or political endeavor that appeared right — and in the best interest of this section of Arkansas I appreciate your interest in my campaign; when we have a lawsuit with you on one side and me on the other someone has to lose. But pulling together in this effort as we are we can both win and (what is most important) perhaps Arkansas can profit by our joint effort.

George, my dear friend, called you "Mr. Frazier" too simply to identify you. Words cannot convey to you George my thank for your untiring efforts in serving as General Chairman and chief planner for this rally.

Events like this don't just happen. It takes the time the work and money of many many people to make a night like this possible. I thank you — every single one of you — from the bottom of my heart. I shall remember and treasure the memory of this occasion as long as I shall live. My family wishes to thank you too; I am sure that my children shall likewise remember your thoughtfulness all of their lives.

You have been kind enough to call this the "JAMES H. PILKINTON APPRECIATION RALLY." While I appreciate it more than words can express I do not know that I deserve this honor. It is I who should be appreciative of you — my home people — in Southwest Arkansas — for it was you who elected me as your State Senator prior to World War II when I was only 25 years old. It was you — my home folks who joined with my mother and father in prayers for my safety during World War II — prayers that were answered! It was you — the people of Southwest Arkansas — who elected me Prosecuting Attorney of the 8th Judicial District in 1946. It was you — my friends of Southern and Western Arkansas who elevated me to the high office of Chancery Judge of the 8th Arkansas Circuit in 1950. It has been you that has supported me in all my endeavors — private or public. Therefore I am indebted to you and I am — grateful to the people of Southwest Arkansas for the opportunities you have given me. This should really be my appreciation night for you — instead of the other way around.

I do not want to say a word or two about the race for Lieutenant Governor of Arkansas which goes to the voters this year.

Except for Governor and United States Senator there is no more important state-wide office on the ballot than that of Lieutenant Governor. Above all it calls for honest mature judgment by a competent (and if possible by an experienced) person.

The Republicans already have their man without a contest a man handpicked by Mr. Rockefeller — and a man without experience in any branch of government on any level. Regardless of how intelligent the Republican candidate may be he could not be effective if elected. There are eight men who

French May Make Some Concessions

By ENDRE MARTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic sources indicated today that France may agree to the continued use of French air space by Allied military planes, despite its break with the military structure of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The result, sources suggested, could be continued French use of NATO's extensive radar network.

The future use of French air space is regarded as one of the most important issues in the current U.S. negotiations with France. Without French overflights, American and other Allied aircraft would have to resort to longer and more costly indirect routes.

French interest in the continuing sharing of Allied air intelligence provided by NATO's radar system is approximately as great as Allied desire to enjoy French overflights in the future, experts on the issue said.

This and other related issues currently are being discussed in Washington with Charles E. Bohlen, the U.S. ambassador to France, and Harlan Cleveland, top American representative at the NATO Council. The two envoys are expected to return to their posts in Paris after talks with Secretary of State Dean Rusk, scheduled to arrive here Saturday from a Far Eastern tour.

Bohlen and Cleveland were recalled to help shape the American approach to questions that will come up at forthcoming bilateral and multilateral political talks with France.

Technical discussions on how to terminate the five bilateral pacts between the United States and France already are going on in Paris between Jacques Beaumarchais a director at the French Foreign Ministry, and Robert H. McBride, minister-counselor at the American Embassy.

One of the important political topics will be the future of the North Atlantic Council, the alliance's top nonmilitary body, which is not affected by President Charles de Gaulle's eviction order to the military.

NATO foreign ministers decided at their Brussels meeting last month to move the military headquarters to Belgium, but they delayed a ruling on whether the political headquarters also should be moved out of France.

While Maurice Couve de Murville, the French foreign minister, expressed indifference to the "move or not to move" issue at the Brussels meeting, some American experts suspect that France would prefer to keep the council in Paris to show that it remains a member of the alliance.

Big Airlines

WASHINGTON (AP) — A machinists union strike crippled operations of five major airlines today.

More than 35,000 members of AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists began walking off their jobs at 6 a.m. local time. A half hour later a spokesman announced the five airlines—Eastern, Northwest, National, Trans World and United—had canceled all originating flights.

In some cases, the spokesman said, through flights were continuing to their final destinations.

Picket lines formed at New York, Washington and other airports in the populous Eastern section of the nation at 6 a.m. EDT. The strike then spread westward from one time zone to the next.

The five airlines normally carry more than 250,000 passengers daily, according to an airlines survey, on flights blanketing the United States and spanning the globe.

BEEBE, Ark. (AP) — A four-vehicle collision Thursday took the lives of two persons and injured nine others on U.S. 67 near the Beebe city limits.

The dead were identified as Mrs. Grace Williamson, 57, and Dwight Leverette, 29, both of Horatio (Sevier County), State Trooper John Westmoreland said.

He identified the injured as Clarence Hadnot Jr., 27, of Houston, Tex.; Kenneth Harden 25, of Killen, Ala.; J. H. Williamson, 59, husband of one victim; Nedra Leverette, 26, wife of the other victim; her three children, Mickey, 9, Tammy, 8, Terry, 6, and Linda Gail Williamson, 18 niece of J. H. Williamson all of Horatio, and Johnny Edward James, 21, of Reelley, Calif.

Westmoreland said the accident occurred when a panel truck apparently pulled off the highway in front of a car driven by Eugene Goss, 42, of North Little Rock. The Goss car was followed by a van driven by Hadnot, and Harden was a passenger.

Bombers Hits
Missile, Oil,
Rail Targets

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. fighter-bombers blasted oil, rail and missile sites in North Viet Nam Thursday, dodged Communist MIGs and missiles and knocked out four torpedo boats, the U. S. command reported.

In a day of furious air action, two American planes were shot down. The pilot of one was rescued; the other is missing.

The four torpedo boats were spotted by reconnaissance planes near a coastal island about 30 miles southeast of Haiphong. The Navy said the camouflaged boats opened fire.

Three attack flights were launched from the carriers Constellation and Hancock. They reported sinking two of the torpedo boats trying to flee, heavily damaging another and leaving the fourth beached and burning. It was the third attack on North Vietnamese torpedo boats within a week.

Both U. S. and Vietnamese military headquarters reported only minor skirmishes in the ground war in South Viet Nam. A U. S. spokesman said there was no significant contact with the enemy in the past 24 hours.

The Navy reported that its planes which raided the Haiphong fuel depot Thursday had just about finished the destruction of the port facilities for unloading and storing oil — including two vital oil-pumping stations — following the first attack there 10 days ago. The announcement indicated only about six per cent of the installation still remained.

Besides the followup Haiphong strike, U.S. planes Thursday blasted an oil dump 35 miles north of Hanoi, another 43 miles southeast of Vinh and a missile site 20 miles northeast of Haiphong. The Air Force also reported destroying 26 boxcars, damaging 48 and cutting the tracks in 28 places.

Governors
Backing the War Policy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The nearly unanimous verdict of the nation's governors is that there can be no turning back in the prosecution of the war in Viet Nam.

By a 49-1 vote, the governors gave approval at the winding of their 58th annual conference Thursday to a resolution affirming their "resolute support of our global commitments, including our support of the military defense of South Viet Nam against aggression."

The long dissenter, Republican Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon, called it a "blank check" for President Johnson's conduct of the war. He said he doesn't support Johnson's policies.

"I do not support escalation of Democratic Gov. Grant Sawyer of Nevada, who sponsored the resolution, said it did not commit the governors to future actions that might be taken.

Democratic Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota, elected to succeed GOP Gov. John H. Reed of Maine as the conference chairman, took no part in the hot and at times waspish debate which preceded approval of the Viet Nam resolution.

The 49 votes included those of the governors of Samoa, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands. Gov. J. Miller Tawes of Maryland had left the conference earlier. Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee failed to attend, as did Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and the governor of Guam.

There was unanimous approval of a meeting next year in the Virgin Islands, with a push trip aboard a luxury liner thrown in.

What happened in this Beverly Hills meeting was that nobody established a political beachhead that seemed to give him a grip on his party's nomination for the 1968 prize of top place on the ticket. There was no Democratic competition, of course, against President Johnson.

On the other side, Gov. George Romney of Michigan presented no forceful bid for his party's No. 1 nomination to oppose Johnson's expected bid for an elected second term.
